Air Reservation Tips

Bing Travel is a great site for figuring out when to buy. It has a price prediction tool that offers advice on whether fares are expected to drop or rise.

Directions and Getting Around

We recommend that you do not rent a car, as it can actually be more of a hassle around city central areas. Boston has an excellent public transportation system and cabs are everywhere, so it is actually very easy to get around.

As we get closer to our wedding date, we will send out another PDF with more detailed information on how to get around on the day of the wedding, as well suggestions for fun and interesting things to do around Boston. You can check back for that at www.amyandfrank.com/travel.
